A relatively cool and extended fermenting period was the main winemaking orientation with the outstanding fruit in 2009. Our Unwooded Chardonnay exhibits fresh melons with undertones of citrus on the nose. The palate consists of up front crushed Lime juice, fresh acid and citrus with creaminess and length generated by extended lees contact in tank prior to bottling. This allowed the fruit to express itself with little human intervention and also with little preservative being used throughout the maturation period. Suitable for drinking now and will age in bottle for up to five years.
